

SSAT MEMBERS' RECEPTION

Where:

The Rookery Building

209 South LaSalle Street
Chicago, Illinois

When:

Tuesday, May 17, 2005

On the National Register of Historic Places, The Rookery Building is one of the most architecturally significant sites in Chicago. Come socialize beneath the light court, designed to allow natural light to reach interior and not just outlying offices, and updated by Frank Lloyd Wright in 1906. Restoration of the entire building to its original beauty was completed in 1992.

Buses will begin departing from the InterContinental Chicago at 6:45 p.m.
